

ALYAS

AMO Lectures for Young Asia Scholars

Do you wonder what role China will play in the 'Pacific century'?
Would you like to know more about the current situation on the Korean Peninsula?
Are you interested in geopolitical changes in the Asia-Pacific region?

Do you plan to become an Asia expert?

Apply for ALYAS 2012!

What is ALYAS?

- ALYAS - AMO Lectures for Young Asia Scholars is a course of 9 lectures offered by the Association for International Affairs (AMO) for young professionals and outstanding university students of Asia.
- The third round of an interesting and selective project, which will run from October 2012 to February 2013.

What do we offer?

- Participation in exclusive round table discussions.
- Opportunity to interact with high-ranking diplomats from the Asia-Pacific region and foreign, as well as Czech, Asia experts in a small group setting.
- Extensive coverage of geopolitics in Asia.
- AMO Young Asia Scholar certificate and a personalized letter of recommendation for participants who successfully complete the course.

Who are we looking for?

- Master students, Ph.D. candidates, post-docs and young professionals interested in contemporary Asian affairs.
- Participants fluent in English.
- Motivated students who will participate in discussions, attend regularly, prepare for lectures by reading assigned materials and write a final paper.

How to apply?

- Send your application to alyas2012@amo.cz by September 28, 2012.
- Attach your CV and motivation letter (one page in English) which should include your previous academic or professional experience in Asia studies and how the course relates to your academic, personal and professional interests.

Course fee: 1800 CZK

www.amo.cz/alyas